Dr. Charles Face Powder

Three Tints—Flesh, White and Brunette

ON SALE AT OVER 50,000 STORES

We want every woman in Boston to learn the perfection of Dr. Charles Face Powder—we want it tested under every condition—compared with other face powders.

Dr. Charles Face Powder is made of the best and purest ingredients that money can buy. Reduced to impalpable fineness, it does not irritate the skin as coarser powders do. Soft as down, blue, adhesive, with transparently blending with the natural tones, it is invisible, except for its beautiful effect, giving a soft, velvety texture even to the roughest skin.

Dr. Charles Face Powder leaves nothing to be desired. It is the ideal powder for a fair or brunette complexion on which a coarser and less naturally tinted powder will always show. Dr. Charles Face Powder alone produces a beautiful complexion which appears natural.

Watch for Coupon in next Sunday's Boston American. With it and ten cents you can secure this full-size box of Dr. Charles Face Powder.

Attorney Simpson's determination to carry his case to the Supreme Court has caused Russell identify battle will be largely fought over again. Framing of issues for a jury trial will have to be agreed upon, and Russell will be required to answer the vital questions in the case.

They will answer this question: "Do you understand Daniel Blake Russell?"

"Upon their answer will depend the fate of the case," says the attorney.

"Your chance?" They cried, and men boys kicked and shouted the square. Five hundred men were hauled on a free limbo at Russell's feet. On the streets, a watch spilled and the dog and part of the tree burned.

TWO RED SOX TEAMS WILL CLASH TO-DAY

There'll be fun galore out on the Huntington avenue field this afternoon when the Red Sox Yankigans and the Red Sox Yankigans go to bat. The game will be a diamond fight from the drop of the bat.

The Yankigans are not the least disheartened over the defeat at the hands of the Worcester team yesterday after substituting the crowd and losing in the last fifth. They worked under pressure after long time and figure that their team was not at the top notch. This afternoon they expect to show a better team.

All Players in Game.

The twenty-eight players that Manager Donovan had control of will be seen in action, as everybody will be given a chance to show his stuff in the contest.

The Red Sox Yankigans did not find the Harvard team the soft proposition as they expected, and had to work hard to pull out a victory as the meagre score of 4 to 1.

The college boys were not at all intimidated by the big leaguers, and surprised the Red Sox Yankigans by their play.

The Red Sox Yankigans did not find the Harvard team the soft proposition as they expected, and had to work hard to pull out a victory as the meagre score of 4 to 1.

Red Sox Were Blanked.

For two innings the Red Sox were blanked out together with the attack in the third and fourth and drew the first hit, and put one home in the fourth. It was such a small lead that the Harvard boys were sure they had a chance to win. They were going away to even up the game.

YANNIGANS TO PLAY REGULARS AT BACK BAY

DOVES PLAY LOWELL TEAM FOR PRACTICE

Just to keep the boys keyed up to the highest pitch for the grand opening with the Clinton tomorrow, Manager Fred Lake will take the Doves to Lowell this afternoon to show the New England team how they play the game. As it is Lake's old home town there is sure to be a generous turnout, even if the Doves are on the long end.

To throw the ball up for the Lowellites, Wolfgang and Evans have been selected to occupy the box, while Hardesty, who is some ready as a batsman, will follow after the work behind the bat.

And it might be mentioned here casually that there is trouble coming for the Lowellites after they arrive tomorrow, for they are up against a team that with bear watching in the national race this year, as the gang of hostlers Fred Lake directs is liable to bring all kinds of surprises. There seems to be no limit to what they can do on the field.

Team Looks Good.

The Providence roster thought they had a team that was many degrees better than the Doves, and came up prepared to back their nine to the limit, offering any kind of odds to the team. Yesterday they are much wiser, and have a good report for the team they battled as an 8 to 1 score, which should have been a shut-out.

Who Will Be the Twirler?

Manager Lake has not definitely determined on the twirler he will pick to face the Clinton in the first clash but is likely to let the twirler of his own choice. The twirler will be a contest with Decker Lake in the matter.

have to get a million a minute to have all that. There isn't any sense in keeping on piling up more money when you've got enough already. You can't take it with you when you die."

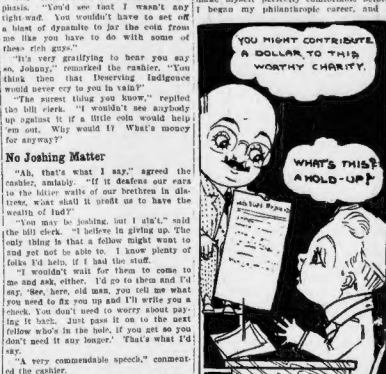

"Not even your ears," suggested the cashier.

"My ears haven't anything to do with it," said the bill clerk. "What I mean to say is that I had racks of the greatest quality, and I'm sure that the great difference would be different. You wouldn't get me holding back."

"No," said the cashier.

"No," declared the bill clerk, with emphasis.

"That's very true," said the cashier thoughtfully. "You cannot. You have to leave it behind you, don't you, no matter how much you make, and consequently you might as well have the pleasure of distributing it while you are alive. Of course, it's only reasonable to look after yourself first, and I think you can't put a man's profit, especially comfortable before

"I don't take any ridiculous credit for it," I said the bill clerk. "It's just the way I am. I couldn't be any other way. If I was prosperous all my friends would be prosperous, too. I'd see that they were. You wouldn't be doubling away at this menial job if I was a millionaire. I'd see that you got something that would put you on a par with me."

His Generous Intentions

"I don't know how to express my gratitude to you, Johnny, my boy," stammered the cashier, applying a corner of his handkerchief to his forehead.

Putting It Into Practice

"Of course," agreed the bill clerk.

"I should not feel called upon to deeply analyze myself," he said. "I am not a philosopher. There were unfortunate or impoverished persons in the world who lacked bare necessities. That would be absurd. I couldn't be completely even if I gave up my last coat or my last pair of shoes."

"That's true enough," and the bill clerk.

"Still, I think you might contribute a little to this very real, very concrete situation the cashier, according to a subscription paper, and I'll tell you: you

WHY THEY KICK
TWO things there are now most affecting men's thoughts—have no misgiving:—
First is the poor man's daily pining
That living would disgrace our saints,

An advertisement for Sterling Ale. The background is white with large, black, stylized letters forming a diamond shape. Inside the diamond, the text "Sterling Ale" is written in a large, elegant serif font. Below it, a paragraph of text reads: "A nickel for the price is your part--- a nickel and a firm stand for your money's worth from the Official Faucet." At the bottom of the diamond, the text "RUETER & COMPANY Ale and Porter Brewers BOSTON" is printed. To the left of the diamond, there is a detailed illustration of a bunch of grapes hanging from a vine. To the right, there is an illustration of a beer mug with a handle, featuring a label that says "ALE THAT IS ALE". The entire advertisement is framed by a decorative border.
